Mystery OF Acambaro

7:30 PM, July 20, 2004, Totino Fine Arts Center, Rm. 115, Northwestern College

In 1945, German archeologist, Waldemar Julsrud discovered clay figurines buried at the foot of El Toro Mountain on the outskirts of Acambaro, Guanajuato, Mexico. Eventually over 37,000 figurines and artifacts were found. They were similar to the artifacts identified with the Pre-classical Chupicuaro Culture (800 BC - 200 AD) found in this area. Radiocarbon and thermoluminescent testing has supported these estimates.

The authenticity of the find has been challenged because the collection included dinosaurs. Many archeologists believe dinosaurs have been extinct for the past 65 million years and man's knowledge of them has been limited to the past 200 years. If man saw and modeled them 2500 years ago, this view would be falsified.

Dr. Don R. Patton, together with Dr. Dennis Swift have made five trips to Acambaro in order to conduct their own personal investigation. The collection had been locked away for years but access was obtained. Dr. Patton produced this video, you will hear the intriguing story, the testimony of many respected, knowledgeable eye witnesses and evaluate the evidence for yourself. Bring the whole family and expect some surprises.

All meetings are free and open to the public. A free-will offering will be taken.

Button, Button, Design a Button Contest

We don't give out Grammys or Oscars, we give out Buttons. You may have seen our buttons with the TCCSA Logo. We want new buttons with a catchy phrase and/or picture that you can wear anywhere. It should be something that will start a conversation. When people ask "what's it mean" or "What's that?" you can explain. It must be simple enough to fit on a 1½ or 2 inch round button and still be readable.

The phrase must be related to the Biblical position of Creation, Science, Animals, Plants, Humans, Geology, Astronomy, Fossils, Dinosaurs, Adam, Noah or you name it. It should be short, simple and to the point.

The winning entry will become buttons and the winner will receive a large button as well as much deserved recognition. The deadline for submissions is August 25 so we can have them ready for the September meeting. Send your ideas to david-johnson@usfamily.net or call 612-330-3881 and leave a message.

Adventure Safaris

Adventure Safaris

Another great dig year in South Dakota is over. Check our web site for highlights and pictures as well as updates and information regarding activities and how your family can participate. For activities with other creation groups go to www.tccsa.tc and look for links. As you visit museums and parks this summer encourage your family to watch for propaganda regarding evolutionism. It's a good time for you to explain what the Bible says. You may find others wanting to listen and ask questions. Take a couple of good books for questions that may stump you.

Adventure Safaris presents the Creator and His designs and laws to homeschool co-ops. Contact us if you are interested in receiving an excellent science education for your students. As a nonprofit organization, we are supported by our school work as well as by interested churches and individuals. All gifts made out to TCCSA are tax deductible. Designate what your gift is for.
